FATHER COENEN DEAD.

Beloved Priest Passes Away at This Place After Six Weeks' Illness.

SERVED CHURCH HERE FOR NEARLY THIRTY YEARS

Laid to Rest Yesterday Beside Departed Ones of His Congregation.

RE REQUESTED SIMPLE FUNERAL.

The simple life of the good man was ended. His spirit had fled. They took his body from the church where he had led so long and the church was desolate.

Yesterday morning after mass, which was held at 9 o'clock, the remains of Father Coenen were interred in the Catholic cemetery, where rest many of the congre-gation to which he has ministered so faithfully and so long. Only the service of the mass was pronounced, mingled with the solemn notes of the organ and the voices he had loved in song. No eulogy was said, no review of his simple and devoted life recounted. There were no flowers, no personal pomp, no wreath of laurel held aloft to symbolize his faithful work, his good achievements. It was against the impulse of those who gathered to show their last, sincere respect, but the priest had said he wished his funeral thus simple, and so it was.

Father Lynch, of Henderson, dean of this district, was celebrant of the mass; Father Bachman, of Louisville, deacon; and Father Michael Melody, of Louisville, sub-deacon. Father Oraney, of Morganfield, was master of ceremonies. Father Welsh, of Hopkinsville, and Father McNeal, of Columbia, were also in the sanctuary. Bishop McCloskey had announced his intention to come, but he has been quite ill himself and is not yet ready to travel. Telegrams were received from other priests who were detained by illness.

The pall bearers were: L. H. O'Brien, James Fagan, Henry McDowell, Patrick Whalen, Thomas Blair and Louis Houlihan.

The Rev. Alphonse Mary Coenen died Monday morning about 7 o'clock at the rectory of the Catholic Church of Immaculate Conception after an illness of six weeks, which had from the beginning been pronounced fatal. The malady which caused death of this beloved priest was a cancerous affection of the esophagus which was beyond human skill to cure. His death had been looked forward to as a certainty which only his good constitution and strong will could postpone a few days. The decline was gradual and during the most of his illness he was able to receive his friends and enjoy their company. Unconsciousness came on Saturday morning and after that death was expected hourly but did not occur until forty-eight hours later.

The deceased is survived by two brothers and one sister; Julius Coenen, of this place, Joseph Coenen, of Louisville, and Mrs. Sedona Conroy, of Dallas, Tex. The young son of Joseph Coenen accompanied him here. Mrs. Courtot is quite ill in Texas and could not come.

Father Coenen was born at Leam, Belgium, September 2nd, 1838, son of Adolphus and Hormense Coenen, both of whom came to Earlington after he took charge of the Earlington congregation and both of whom died here. The father died in the old frame building then occupied as the rectory, the mother died a few years ago in the new brick rectory in which the priest has just expired.

REV. ALPHONSE MARY COENEN

Father Coenen came to this country about forty-three years ago and went to Louisville, Ky., where he acted as assistant to the Rev. L. Bax, who was then and is yet the pastor of St. John's Catholic church. In detail the history of his ministry was as follows: He was ordained at Malines, Belgium, at the age were held in an old log house, used as a school house, which stood on the site now occupied by the residence of Mr. Frank D. Rash and just across Farren avenue from the handsome brick church that has been the home of the congregation for nineteen years. Later a small, frame church was erected which served for many years until it was moved back to give place to the substantial two story brick Parochial School building which is occupied daily by about one hundred children under the tutelage of four Sisters of Charity of Nazareth. The school house was built in 1883 and the church in 1886.

The little charge of a handful of communicants here when Father Coenen made Earlington his home for the first time has increased to a faithful congregation of some sixty families. The material advancement has been from the free country air and the friendly shade of a cedar tree to the church ownership and occupancy of handsomely designed of twenty-three, on Sept. 21st, 1861, by Cardinal Sterckx, after which he came to the United States to be assistant at St. John's Church, Louisville, Ky., in which capacity he served from the 1st day of June, 1862, to September, 1870. He was assistant at the Cathedral in Louisville from September, 1870, to November, 1871. He then became pastor of St. Augustin's Church in Louisville, from November, 1871, to December, 1872. From Louisville he was transferred to Henderson where he was pastor of that congregation from December 1st, 1872, to May 29th, 1875. Then began his ministry here which was continuous until the time of his death, Monday morning, February 13th, 1905. During his priesthood at Henderson he visited Earlington periodically and ministered to the few Catholics living here then. Later, by his own request, he was removed to this place and given charge of the Earlington congregation, then in its infancy.

and substantially built and furnished structures sufficiently extensive for all church, school and residential use.

The L. & N. R. R. has purchased a plot of ground at Nortonville and will in a short time begin the erection of several buildings at that place for the benefit of their employees. Houses are scarce in Nortonville and this action is taken by the company to provide a place for the men and avoid inconvenience in future.

As a boy in Belgium Father Coenen was a musician. Later he became instructor in music at the American College, at Louvain, Belgium. While a student at this college he formed friendships with men who have since become famous in church circles in America. One of these was Bishop John L. Spaulding, a fellow student, who wrote the words of a college song, the music of which was Father Coenen's first composition. This song was adopted and sung at the American College.

Later in life he composed several masses, some of which have been in use in other churches of the Louisville diocese for years.

Father Coenen was a learned man, an energetic worker and a close student of men and things. He was beloved of his congregation and endeared to many outside his own church. His presence and his influence will be sadly missed and the resources of his church will be taxed to fill his place.

ROUGH HOUSE

Started on Train by Some Manning Men Monday—Were Overloaded With Bug Juice.

Coming from Madisonville on train 61 Monday were some people from Middletown who had been attending court as witnesses in the McIntosh murder case. They were pretty well tanked and were evidently discussing the erratic movements of Hopkins county justice, when some of the number became excited and in the heated argument the lie was passed. In a brief space of time the air of the train was quite blue and had a sulphuric odor, knives and bright shiny things that looked like guns were pulled.

By this time the train had stopped at the coal chute for coal and C. H. McGary, Mr. Molhausen, the Armour meat man, and Mrs. Harriett Brown, of this city, left the ladies coach in which the scrap was going on and sought refuge in the sleeper.

This is the same board that served last year, with the exception of Henry Cox.

The board will meet here on February 28, the meeting having been postponed because of the failure of county officials to send recapitulation books.

COLDEST

Monday Records Minimum Temperature in Exactly Six Years.

WIND EMPHASIZES THE BITTER COLD.

This week has broken the record for cold days since February 1890.

The minimum temperature for this winter was recorded Monday morning the 13th, when the mercury went to 5 degrees below zero. Tuesday was the coldest day throughout, with a minimum of 4 below zero and a maximum of 7 above. A keen wind added to the personal discomfort and ears and toes of the unwary have been frostbitten.

The coldest temperature recorded since the establishment of the voluntary weather station here occurred just six years ago. The morning of February 13th, 1890, the mercury reached 28 degrees below zero and the maximum for the twenty-four hours was 3 degrees below zero. That was an exceedingly severe spell when for seven days the minimum temperature ranged from 0 to 28 degrees below, and only rose above 10 degrees three times during the entire week.

During that week there were seven inches of snowfall. Only once in the memory of the present generation was there so cold a day as that 13th of February.

The coldest day last winter was Jan. 27, minimum 2 degrees, maximum 33 degrees.

The last time the mercury got below this week's record was on Dec. 18, 1901 when the minimum was 10 degrees below zero. No serious results have been caused by the present low temperature in the operation of coal mining plants or the railroads. On the railroads traffic is very heavy and the crews have had a difficult time. The mines are exceedingly busy. General business has kept everything hot enough to move lively.

The heating plant at the Catholic Church has been broken down for some time and the building is being heated by large stoves this week. The heating stoves in the St. Bernard building was disabled Monday morning by a bursted flue, which has since been repaired.

COLEMAN DUPONT FOR THE UNITED STATES SENATE.

Promising Outlook for Former Kentuckian to Represent Delaware.

T. Coleman du Pont, of Wilmington, Del., seems in line for the United States Senate by an unexpected break in the Ad dicks ranks promised to take place this week. Mr. du Pont has for years been interested in politics and high in the councils of his party but never a candidate for office. His home was formerly in Louisville. He is president of the DuPont Powder Company, of Wilmington. He also retains the presidency of the Central Coal and Iron Company, operating at Central City and elsewhere, a position he has held for some years, and is the chief owner of that property. Mr. du Pont has been now for some time recognized as the head of the du Pont family in America. He has friends here and has visited Earlington on several occasions, being on those visits a guest in the family of Mr. Jno. B. Atkinson.

It is said that the Prince of Wales has nineteen planks in his house. That would be tough on a poor man, but we suppose the Prince is able to have other places to go to while the performance of his tour continues.

MRS. NETTIE MARTIN

An Humble Follower of the Meek and Lowly Jesus Falls Asleep.

Saturday evening about six o'clock the gentle spirit of Mrs. Nettie Martin, wife of O. T. Martin, of this place, winged its way to a fairer world above. The patient sufferer had been ill for several days with lung trouble and was naturally of a weak constitution.

Although her recovery was not expected it was thought she would linger for several days. Mrs. Martin was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Springfield, Tenn., and had been for years.

She was deeply religious and passed from this world as quietly and peacefully as if she were but going to sleep. Her devoted husband and children and Mrs. Edna Robinson, whom she had raised from a child, were with her to the last.

As soon as the sad news was made known neighbors and friends hurried in to pay their respect to the dead and console the living.

Mrs. Martin was 48 years old and was a member of the Golden Cross having lately moved her membership to this place from Springfield.

She was interred at the Earlington cemetery Monday afternoon at three o'clock under the auspices of the United Order of the Golden Cross having lately moved her membership to this place from Springfield.

Friend after friend departs. Who has not lost a friend? There is no union here of hearts. That finds not here an end.

St. Valentine's Day.

Tuesday was St. Valentine's day. It was a day of bliss to some and a day of disappointment to others. While the elaborate love making valentines begets joy and happiness the comic one causes dismay and misery. The former is sent with a heartful of love and kind wishes, while the latter ludicrously displays the faults and frailties of human nature, and the valentine fiend never neglects an opportunity to remind his or her acquaintances of their faults and defects on this particular day. While the comic valentine is often sent in a spirit of pure mischief and sport, nevertheless it causes many a heart ache and the torture inflicted is just as acute as though it had been sent in good earnest. The comic valentine is a nuisance and should be suppressed.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN

Under Sentence of Death in Kentucky.

There are thirteen men under the death sentence in Kentucky. This is a startling announcement to say the least. Probably at no time in the history of the state has there been thirteen men at one time awaiting death on the gallows. It is, perhaps a record equaled by no other state.

The great American hen laid 20,000,000 eggs last year. She is expected to lay a little winter.

FIRST FLOOR BARGAINS.

Here we cannot enter into particulars. In our immense SHOE stock we are showing numbers of Good Wearing shoes bearing the "clean up" mark which means they must move, and the lever used is a discount of 20 to 33½ per cent. Most prominent on the Dry Goods side are one lot Damask Portieres at about one-half price, and a big lot each of Silk and Velvet Remnants that may run the ladies crazy when they get into them. These Silks and Velvets are wonderful bargains.

SHIRTS.

A Stiff Front Shirt, all should agree, is the only correct thing for winter wear.

For some "unreasonable reason" however they have been abandoned and in consequence, we include in this great Sacrificing Sale the following:

168 Stiff Front Fancy Shirts.
"Gold," "Silver" and "Monarch."
$1.50 grade cut to	30c
$1.00 grade cut to	30c
14½ to 17½
80 Stiff Front Fancy Shirts.
50c Grade cut to	25c
14½ to 17½
60 Good Work Shirts slightly soiled
50c grade cut to 35c, or 3 for $1.00
Winter Time---Winter Shirts.
Prices Cut Half in Two.

And in connection with this greatest of Clearance Sale, we have arranged to carry on a White Goods and Embroidery sale, which we think may prove the attractive feature of our February business.

For handling these we have placed a row of counters right down the center of our lower room, thus enabling quite a number of ladies to get a clean sweep at them at a time.

Standing room for you on both sides of the counters you see, and every thing being plainly marked there is no chance for friction.

10 cents

Upon one counter we are showing 4,469 yards of Embroidery at
In this lot are both Jaconet and Swiss---Edges and Insertions.
Width of Edges from 2½ to 10 inches.

10 cents

5 Cents

Upon an other counter are 2,103 yards of Embroidery at and about 150 yards at 12-1-2 cents a yard.

5 Cents

And throughout our White Goods, such as India Linens, Fancy White Goods, and our great stock of Table Linens we are making prices that guarantee a colossal business there in.

This is a "departure" for us and we earnestly ask each and every lady in Hopkins county to come and help us make it a great success. We certainly have done our part and the door is open to you.

In all candor we assure the trade. In this combined "Clearance, White Goods and Embroidery" sale we are offering the greatest values of our experience.

Come in, take your time and get your choice. Time from Feby. 8th to March 1st, 1905.

N. B.---We were about to omit two important facts. One is, we have quite a good assortment of Gum Boots on which we are making a discount of 20 per cent. and the other:

No goods are to be sold on credit during this sale.

There never was a paper in any

GARTH THOMPKINS

Gwen Death Sentence at Madisonville
Tuesday.

The jury in the case of Garth
Thompson, colored, charged with the murder of Jim Braine, also colored, in Madisonville about two years ago, returned a verdict of not guilty and his punishment at death. Thompson was given this sentence on a former trial, but the Court of Appeals granted him a new trial.

The defense will enter a motion for a new trial and one of the reasons given is that one of the jurors read a newspaper Tuesday morning in which the prediction was made that the death penalty would again be given.

A Country Kid.

"A Country Kid" H. B. White-aker's successful drama, comes to the Temple Theater, Feb. 10.

The play deals with life as seen in small Indiana towns and is said to be one of strong morals and an interesting plot, enlightened by heter-odox dialogue than is usually found in the ordinary run of comedy dramas.

It will be made notable by some spectacular stage pictures and will be interpreted by a company of well known actresses and actors in their prime. H. B. Whiteaker's successor, H. B. Whiteaker, will have at once jumped to the front rank of successful stars. Since its initial performance the play is said to have met with favor in all of the

We expect in a short time to have complete reports of honor pupils for entire terms of the various public schools of Hopkins county. We have sent out a special letter to all teachers asking for final reports as soon as schools are closed and as soon as we get the names and ages of the "honor pupils" those making the best general average throughout the entire term, so that appropriate books can be selected for the successful pupils, the prizes will be ordered and distributed with little delay as possible.

Correct English.

It is quite possible that teachers do not always realize the importance of exact correctness on their part in speaking and writing the English language. A teacher is popularly supposed to be a sort of walking encyclopedia and she cannot well get away from this distinction. All that is left for her to do the best that she can to live up to what is expected of her. Incorrect English is inexcusable in the case of any one who has had an opportunity to know better, still, we pass over many slips without much mental disturbance. But when a teacher tells her class that she tried to "ketch" a little bird, or that "see" a pretty flower, it causes a distinct shock to the nervous system. The use of them for he or she may be overlooked. Certainly, many public speakers make the error. For example, a teacher may say, "If any one has my book, I wish they would bring it to my desk." While the sentence is wrong, it is not quite of the same class as the other errors mentioned. It comes from an instinctive demand or a pronoun that shall apply equally to both genders. Lacking this, the words they are used. The split infinitive is another error that is steadily working its way into good form, and it may be found in some of the best papers and magazines. A funny incident happened at a teachers' convention. One of the speakers on the program was a college professor of English. The preceding speaker used a split infinitive, and the professor called the attention of a man who sat near him to the error. When it came the professor's turn to speak, his first sentence contained a split infinitive.

While all such questions are interesting, they are not vitally important. This article refers to the simple, common errors that every one recognizes. No teacher who has any professional ambition can afford to allow himself to make these common errors. The most unfortunate part of the whole matter is the fact that the teacher, who makes the errors, is seldom conscious of them herself, and she wonders why the superintendent, who came to visit her school, did not offer her the desired position. The superintendent recently mentioned the case of a teacher who was one of the most faithful, conscientious and successful teachers that he had ever known, but she persisted in using see for saw and other similar errors. To avoid wounding her feelings, for she was exceedingly sensitive, he mentioned the words that she used, repeatedly, in teachers' meetings, and tried to lead her to see the errors for herself, but the attempt was not successful and he was obliged to speak to her personally about the matter. It is a fact that has a funny and at the same time a serious side, that each teacher always thinks the criticisms and suggestions made in teachers' meetings refer to the other teachers.

In writing, little errors are worse than in speaking, because they are more permanent. A college graduate, after she had accepted a position, wrote a letter in regard to some school matter and closed the letter, "Yours truly." She was a successful teacher, but the superintendent never visited her school or met her socially that the "truly" was not remembered. Another well educated (?) teacher ordered a lot of "led" pencils. Another teacher wanted some "plane" paper. All such errors are inexcusable, and the teacher who allows herself to make them cannot hope to be called to important positions.—Poplar Educator.

The date for the Teachers' Institute of Hopkins county has been fixed for the second Monday in July and will continue one week. Dr. R. N. Roark, of the Kentucky State College, of the Kentucky State College, has been secured as conductor. Miss Sallie Brown, present County Superintendent, assures the teachers no better choice could have been made.

Spelling Devices.

For a written spelling lesson, have the pupil to write as many of the words as he can recall. In a short time not a few in the class will be able to write the whole list. When you think sufficient time has been given, call on three or four who have the longest lists to pronounce, and direct the others to supply missing words.

2. Require words to be grouped according to number of syllables they contain.

3. Require the class to write twenty words that are names of things used to cook with, or of things raised in the garden, or of things brought by dry measure, of bones of the skeleton, etc.

4. Give a word. Direct class to make as many words as possible from the letters contained in a given word.

5. Add and ed to beg, plod, fret, rub, etc. Adding ed to ed to scrape, manage, escape, excuse, etc. Add er to slip, big, sin, etc. Add ment to amaze, manage, measure, etc. In the same way require the adding to able, fullness, and so on.

6. List of words misspelled should be corrected and accurately written many times, in order that the pupil may get the right impression of the word in place of the wrong form.

7. Write list of words that rhyme with lawn, dawn, fawn, etc.

8. Make memory list of words used in previous geography lesson.

9. Make a list of words alike in spelling, but different in meaning and pronunciation. Of words alike in sound but different in spelling.

Orthography.

1. Note the distinction between the name and the power of a letter.

2. Give definitions of orthoepic, accent, dipthotong, vowel, consonant.

3. State a rule or rules give examples to show when f is dropped and it is retained.

4. What are diacritical marks? Why is a knowledge of them essential, and how do you teach them to your pupils?

5. Analyze the following words: Educate, supernatural, decapitate, impetuous, amaranth.

6-10. Write the following words pronounced by the examiner.

Plurisy tangible pneumonia censorious paroxysm tergeminous dipthotong chargeable dyspepsia chloroform chalcidism scrofula venomous eczema trucious epilepsy indelible rheumatism averaging chivalrous erroneous

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

Nothing in railroad history needs in interest the wonderful career of W. H. Newman. His own self does not surpass it. Thirty years ago Newman was a young man struggling along in Metcalfe county. He went to Louisville as a hotel clerk. Soon after, he was given a position with a small railroad in the South. He was promoted there and an offer of a better position with a western road soon followed. He was promoted again and again, until he held every position in the railroad service from station agent to president. Then the east called him and he became president of the New York Central. On the first day of February he was made president of the Big Four, Michigan Central and New York Central.

Mr. Newman is now the executive head of something like twenty—probably more—railroad corporations controlled by the Vanderbilt Rockefeller—Morgan interests. In fact, he comes in the executive head position of the Vanderbilt roads of Chicago.

Mr. Newman now draws a salary probably much larger than that of the president of the United States. Thousand miles of railroad lines, and thousand of railroad employees, are subject to orders. He rides over his roads in a special car, and the eyes of the whole transportation world watch his every movement. In spite of it all, he is said by those of his friends of the long ago, who have met him in recent years, to be the same plain, unpretending, modest gentleman, and indefatigable worker, that he was in early life.

All this has been accomplished by a young man who left Metcalfe county penniless, backed by nothing but brains and energy, comparatively a few years ago. What a wonderful career it is!—Glasgow Times.

Nashville, Tenn.—The Nashville & Huntsville Railway Co. has, it is reported, applied for a charter. It is said the company proposes to build part of an electric railway designed to run from Memphis, Tenn., via Nashville, Tenn., and Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala., to Pensacola, Fla. The line from Nashville to Huntsville will be 107 miles long. Capitalists of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis are said to be interested.

George P. Ashley, superintendent of construction for W. J. Oliver, the railroad contractor who is building the extension for the Illinois Central and Mobile and Ohio railroads at Wickliffe, met death about 2 o'clock last Thursday morning in a horrible manner. The car occupied by Ashley and his bookkeeper, Roy McClellan, as an office and temporary residence was destroyed by fire and the former burned to death.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is presumed to have caught from an overheated stove. Ashley and McClellan occupied a small room near one end of the car as a bedroom. McClellan was awakened by smoke in the bedroom and discovered that the other end of the car was in flames. He went to the bed occupied by Ashley and found it empty. He then made his escape through a window in the bedroom supposing that Ashley had already escaped.

It was learned later that Ashley had not been seen and his charred remains were found in the smouldering ashes. His remains were taken to his home in Aikin, N. C., for interment.

Grand River Coal.

It is rumored that the I. C. has bought the iron furnaces at Grand Rivers and will operate them in supplying iron for its own uses only. It has been denied that there is any foundation for these, but it may be safely said that if it is not true, that should be. With the splendid machinery, the rich iron ore, and the facilities of the Railway Company to operate them it would be a good thing for the I. C. as well as for Grand Rivers.

Engineer J. W. Logan has returned from Jamestown, North Dakota, where he has been spending the summer. Mr. Logan has been accused of bringing him some of North Dakota's wintry weather. He says this is mild as compared with the weather out there, where it has been 40 degrees below zero.

General Foreman E. J. Young was at Henderson Monday on business.

An Austrian railway mechanic has discovered a process by which the smoke of warships can be entirely concealed from view. How's that for inventive ingenuity?

Letters to an Engineer to His Master: Manuscript No. 15.

Dear Sir:—A beautiful moonlight night is enjoyed by a thief and an engineer. Last night was, indeed, a most beautiful moonlight night, and to that fact more than any other is due our unexpected delay. Just before crossing Cyclone Rapid I saw lying across the track a short distance ahead of me a man. He might have been asleep, drunk or dead, but he was there—a man. I threw the Lightning Bolt Express into the emergency and slid every wheel in the train. Again the passengers thought we were playing billy goat against the side of a mountain. Was it a man? No, simply the shadow of the trunk of a dead tree. Well, going around Ram's Horn curve I found piled on the track a car load of ties. Again I slid stop. This I found to be the shadow of a pile of ties near the track. And so I kept seeing things on the track all night, and stopping the train, only to find that it was nothing but a shadow. The next moonlight night I shall give engineer Throthlarn or Manerod a chance, as they are claiming my run on their age, anyway. Conductor Punchen came around to the engine at Dunn's station and said the coaches were mighty rough riding on account of the flat wheels, and that he hated it very much as the General manager and the president were on the train, riding incognito.

Yours truly,
S. ANDY KOPFZETTER,
Engineer.

It is said to be assured that the Louisville & Nashville branch railway, which runs from Earlington to Providence, a distance of only twenty miles, will be extended to Shawneetown, Ill., passing through the rich coal, timber and farming lands of both Webster and Union counties, and connecting with the L. & N. at Shawneetown. The new addition, which will connect the two branch lines and make a solid line from this place to St. Louis, will be about forty miles. This would shorten the route from here to St. Louis and open up the way into some of the richest mineral lands in this section of the State.

NEWPORT LOSES.

Outrages by Union Foundry Workers Encouraged by Authorities.

MACHINERY COMPANY FORCED TO MOVE ACROSS RIVER.

Cincinnati:—After having been subjected to six dynamite outrages, including the workmen beatings and the burning of the premises of the Newport Foundry and Machine Company decided to leave the Kentucky city, where lawlessness reigns supreme, to locate in Cincinnati.

It was the general opinion that the withdrawal of the Newport Foundry and Machine Company from the Kentucky city will be a blow to the interests of the community, which will visit the city back a score of years, will vitiate the labors of the Commercial Club in getting new enterprises to locate in Newport, and will have a serious effect in causing other enterprises to locate in other cities.

The general opinion among the conservative people is that the reason for the outrages to the interests of the city has been caused by Max Helmholz in allying with the strikers and the lawless element, and in instructing the police to arrest the lawless element, and in instructing the police to arrest the strikebreakers and non-union men.

While the business was running peacefully it paid out to its employees a weekly salary of $100 weekly. This payroll has dwindled to less than $400 weekly. Six times has the place been dynamited.

Nine times have the non-union men been beaten and maltreated. Three times have there been attempts to blow up the plant.

Four times have riots occurred. The last time, however, which ends the foundry trouble, but it also puts an end to enterprises locating in the beautiful city east of the Licking River.
